

Individual agreement: Uniform at Work Day

Background

The Commander of the Swedish Home Guard has made the decision to conduct Uniform at Work Day every year on Wednesday of week 16. The purpose is to make the Home Guard and our Home Guard soldiers more visible.

The initiative was taken by our Home Guard soldiers by a proposal on the annual meeting of the Home Guards in 2017. This is part of the democratic participation established in the Home Guard.

The participation of the individual Home Guard soldier is based on:

- voluntary commitment,
- a collected, preferably written, permit from the employer to wear a uniform for one day at work,
- the possibility to wear the uniform during activities outside of regular working hours during Uniform at Work Day.

Agreement

The Home Guard soldier is hereby authorised to wear a uniform at the workplace, in order to make the Home Guard more visible and the Home Guard soldiers contribution to society's capability during peace, crisis and war.
