GENDER PERSPECTIVES IN MILITARY OPERATIONS

EDITION 2016-10-01

Men, women, boys and girls are affected differently by war and conflict.

To have a gender perspective is to have the ability to detect if and when men, women, boys and girls are being affected differently by a situation due to their gender.

Consider and at all times assume that lives, experiences, security threats, freedom of movements, healthiness, access to health care, resources and influence are not the same for men, women, boys and girls.

"Gender refers to the social attributes associated with being male and female learned through socialisation and determines a person's position and value in a given context."

NATO Bi-SC Directive 40-1 (Rev 1).

The Bi-SC Directive aims to ensure implementation of United Nations Security Council Resolution (UNSCR) 1325, related resolutions and integration of gender perspective in military organisations

Unless we know who is affected - men, women, boys and girls – and who among them are exposed to what risks, where and when, the protection and security we provide may be off

By addressing men, women, boys or girls when gathering information, we will get access to additional and different types of information. This will increase our situational awareness and lead to increased Force Protection and operational effect.

target and hamper the fulfillment of the mandates.

"We share the same commitment to the values of freedom, democracy, human rights and rule of law, and we share the same dedication to build a safer and more secure world"

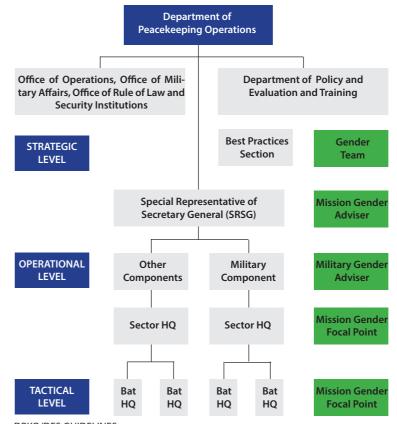

> NATO Secretary General Anders Fogh Rasmussen, 2013

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and rights.

DPKO/DFS GUIDELINES

INTEGRATING A GENDER PERSPECTIVE INTO THE WORK OF THE UNITED NATIONS MILITARY IN PEACEKEEPING OPERATIONS. PAGE 39.

We integrate gender perspective by asking: Not only..... but also..... What needs/interests? Whose needs/interests? What people do? Who does what? What resources? Who resources? How many women? Which women? How many men? Which men? Who is included? Who participates? Who talks? Who is listened to? Impact of interventions? What interventions? What has changed? Impact of change?

"Never walk into an environment and assume you understand it better than the people who reside there..."

KOFI A. ANNAN Secretary-General UN 1997-2006

The UN Security Council has adopted seven resolutions on Women, Peace and Security UNSCR 1325 and related resolute outlined 3 key strategies for implementation:

Protection Prevention Participation – both internal and external 1325 (2000) addresses the significant and disproportionate impact that armed conflict has on women and girls, as well as recognises the under-valued and under-utilised contributions women make to conflict prevention, peacekeeping, conflict resolution and peace-building.

1820 (2008) Building on 1325, focuses on sexual violence in conflict & sexual violence as a tactic of war. Calls for accountability in order to end impunity.

1888, 1889 & 1960 (2009 & 2010) Creating an international framework for the implementation of gender perspective in the pursuit of international security and the conduct of peace ops.

2106 (2013) Affirms sexual violence as tactic of war can exasperate and prolong situations of armed conflict. Stresses the importance of reporting and monitoring the different situations for men, women, boys and girls.

2122 (2013) Strengthening women's role in all aspects of conflict prevention and resolution.
